The 2009 agenda for County Judge Wayne Boultinghouse and administrative assistants Teresa Morris, left, and Dianne Seery includes, among other projects, expansion of the Lampasas County Office Building, the construction of an animal control facility and repairs to low-water crossings damaged by floods.

County faces tight budget in 2009

ment and a camera to use in documenting damage from natural disasters.
Boultinghouse does not expect major capital expenditures in 2009, however.

"If there's a big outlay, it will be on an emergency basis," he said. "We don't have anything planned."

Water conservation group to meet

Central Texas Groundwater Conservation District Board of Directors will meet Monday at 6 p.m. at the district office, 225 S. Pierce St., suite 104 in Burnet to discuss the proposed district rules, report on database development for well registration and permitting and to hear updates on monitor wells and Groundwater Management Area 8.
A manager's report and directors' comments also will be heard.
