Annual county Farm Bureau contests on tap Saturday

Four Lampasas County young women will vie for the title of Miss Lampasas County Farm Bureau, and one will earn the right to represent the Farm Bureau at various engagements and competitions.

The contest will be Saturday at 6 p.m. at the Farm Bureau Building on U.S. Highway 281 North.

Two little ladies will compete for the title of Little Miss, and three boys are vying for the Little Mister title.

One also has entered the Talent Find competition.

Little Miss candidates include Kasi Andrews, 6, daughter of Todd and Angie Andrews, and Kylee Rutledge, 4, daughter of Kyle and Breane Rutledge;

Little Mister contestants are Ethan Bradle, 6, son of Michael and Julie Bradle; Dawson Raub, 6, son of Darryl and Mary Raub; and Avery Paul Smith, 5, son of John and Somer Smith.

Cassidy Wienecke, 16, is entered in the Talent Find competition.

Miss Farm Bureau contestants include:

- Kylie Bradley. A sophomore at Lometa High School, she is the 16-year-old daughter of Wendell and Julie Bradley.

- Miss Bradley is active in the FFA where she has received numerous awards, and has served as the Lometa chapter president for two years and the San Saba District FFA president. She was the 2008 state champion in Soil Stewardship Public Speaking.

- Miss Bradley exhibits market swine, and was the 2009 Senior Food Fair Grand Champion at the Lampasas stock show.

- At Lometa, she is in Student Council, National Honor Society, Fellowship of Christian Athletes and participates in UIL activities.

- Miss Bradley also is an All-American cheerleader, participates in discus and plays basketball, and is a member of the UIL One-Act Play cast.

Appreciation for military

Lampasans turned out in good numbers for the annual chamber of commerce fish fry held at the Crawford Party House to honor Fort Hood military personnel.

Girl Scout camp registration opens

Girl Scouts of Central Texas is registering girls entering grades 1-12 for summer camp. Campers do not need to be registered members of Girl Scouts.

Summer camps begin June 14 and continue through July 24 at Camp Wood Lake on Lake Brownwood. Camp sessions are overnight and range in length from two nights to five nights. Most sessions begin Sunday and end on Friday.

Girls who attend have the opportunity to explore nature and discover the experience of summer camp. Activities include canoeing, rock climbing, swimming, dance and more.

Qualified staff members help girls learn and grow while having fun embracing the principles of the Girl Scout promise: honesty, fairness, consideration for others, caring, courage, strength, personal responsibility, respect, resourcefulness, service and friendship.

ship. "For many girls, Girl Scout camp is the best week of their summer," said Jan Cate, vice president of Community Partnerships and Facilities for Girl Scouts of Central Texas. "And, for parents, it's a safe, reliable experience that teaches their daughters life lessons and keeps the family budget balanced."

Camp fees include all activities, food, housing and supervision. Sessions at Camp Wood Lake begin at $150 for a two-night camp and $220 for a five-night camp. Non-Girl Scouts who register will become registered Girl Scouts, and a $10 registration fee will be added to camp fees.

Descriptions of camp sessions, including dates and fees, can be found at www.gsctx.org.
