Lampasas County Sheriff's Investigator John Seery is shown with a portion of the items recovered after two home burglaries and a series of thefts. Two men have been arrested and charged with theft-related offenses.

Sheriff's investigator helps break up burglary, theft ring; two arrested

The Lampasas County Sheriff's Department successfully broke up a home burglary and theft ring with the recent arrest of two suspects.

Investigator John Seery said the home burglaries occurred in Lometa on Jan. 9, and Jan. 12 in Kempner.

After the break-ins were reported, Seery kept watch online at a nationwide Web site that monitors pawn shop transactions. He was hoping to spot some of the property that was stolen in the county.

"I started noticing some of the property coming up on the pawn shop site was some of the items reported missing," he said. Seery said it happened twice.

And the investigator was able to retrieve a name to match the pawned items.

The suspect, Earl David Nowlain, 25, of Lampasas was brought to the sheriff's office for questioning on Jan. 14, and he confessed to the burglaries.

Nowlain's admission led to the arrest of a second suspect, 17-year-old James Nash of Lampasas, who also confessed to the thefts.

In addition, the pair would drive around city and county residences during the day, and if they saw something in garages or outside on lawns that they wanted, they returned at night to retrieve the items between 10 p.m. and 1 a.m., said Seery.

The investigator said Nowlain and Nash were able to amass several truckloads of items that way, including a motorcycle, pressure washers, chainsaws, weed eaters, compressors, scaffolding and more.

"There's so much stuff that we don't even know who it belongs to," said Seery. "A lot of people probably don't even realize their property is missing."

Nowlain was released Jan. 27 after posting a $35,000 bond for the Lometa burglary. He was rearrested Tuesday and charged with the burglary in Kempner. On Wednesday, he was still in jail on a $50,000 bond.

Nash was released on Tuesday after posting a $10,000 bond.

More charges are expected to be filed on both individuals, said Seery.

"If you are missing something -- especially small tools -- please give us a call. We might have your property," Seery said. "We have some items we don't know who they belong to."

The investigator, who has made several trips to retrieve property, estimated that between $15,000 and $20,000 in stolen property was recovered.

San Saba store featured in magazine

Harry's, a San Saba landmark since 1939, was the topic of an article in the December 2009 issue of Cowboys and Indians magazine.

The international magazine encompasses everything notable about the American West: history and legend, hardworking people, dramatic vistas and enduring values.

The article relates the San Saba store's history from its beginnings to the present transformation and continuing renovations.

It also discusses the growing inventory of well-known brands, the way the store presents itself to current and future customers, and its unique business philosophy.

Tax Aide program offered at senior center

The American Association of Retired Persons is offering its annual Tax Aide program at the Lampasas Senior Center each Tuesday through April.

I.R.S.-certified volunteers will prepare e-file tax returns for middle- and low-income taxpayers with an emphasis on seniors age 60 and older.

For more information, contact Robert McCauley at 556-8367.

Library sets storytime

The Lampasas Public Library will hold a preschool story time on Feb. 24 with "Money, Money, Money." Storytime is from 10:10-10:30 a.m.

Congregation to mark anniversary

Congregation Simcha Sinai will celebrate its first anniversary on Feb. 12.

Following Shabbat services, the congregation will have a small ceremony to mark the occasion and enjoy a potluck dairy dinner.

Anyone interested is invited for services and fellowship at 102 Cattail Circle in Harker Heights.

For more information, contact Larry Cohen at (254) 231-4930 or Shayna Nash at (254) 458-3177.
